ARMED MEN numbering five on Saturday raided a hotel and drinking joint in Alagbado, a Lagos suburb, carting away customers' GSM handsets and cash among other valueables.

A witness and owner of the hotel located on Samiu Adedeji Street, Alagbado in Ijokoro Local Government Area, told Daily Independent that the robbers attacked the place at exactly 8.p.m. when business was at its peak and customers were relaxing.

The manager, who gave his name as Ayo Bamidele, added that the only casualty of the incident was a teenage call girl who had attempted to run as a result of the sporadic gunshots by the robbers.

He gave the deceased name as Toyin and said, it was a pity that "the poor innocent girl died that way."

The manager claimed that he was yet to contact the relatives of the late call girl, even as he stated that the incident has been reported at the Ijaiye Police Station.

It would be recalled that Daily Independent had exclusively reported an earlier attempt by a gang of armed men to rob the hotel penultimate week, but were repelled by timely intervention of the police detachment from the Lagos State funded security outfit, Rapid Response Squad (RRS).
