

Police Arrest Baker Over Death Of Colleague

By Femi Ogbonnikan

Correspondent, Lagos

POLICE in Lagos have arrested a baker, Kelly Charles, for allegedly killing his colleague at a local bakery with a knife.

Daily Independent gathered that trouble started on Monday when the suspect accused the deceased of treating him like a junior.

The suspect, Charles, claimed he had been a victim of cheating, usually meted out to him by the victim, Erinola Akinyemi, when he was assisting to collect his meagre N2, 000 monthly salary.

The incident occurred at a bakery located at Kokumo Street, Aguda, Ogba, Lagos.

According to the 20-year-old suspect, who is currently being questioned by homicide detectives attached to the State Criminal Investigation Department (SCID), Panti Street, Yaba, Lagos, on a monthly basis, he said Akinyemi usually removed N300 from the N2, 000 he collected as salary but that he had not at anytime complained.

Osun Police Nab Two Robbery Suspects