

Again, two killed in Bayelsa

ANOTHER cult clash has led to the death of two persons in Yenagoa barely two weeks after cult clashes resulted in the death of three persons in the capital of Bayelsa State.

Daily Independent investigation showed that the cult clash occurred in the early hours of Monday at Onopa, a suburb of Yenagoa.

A competent security source informed that the latest clash pitched some members of a cult group identified as Highlanders against Greenlanders group around the area at about 1.30am.

Residents around the area where the clash occurred became worried and were in fear as the warring cultists attacked each other with guns, axes, cutlasses and other dangerous weapons.

Though the reason for the clash could not be ascertained, an eyewitness said that supremacy tussle between the groups sparked off the violent encounter.
