NO FEWER than three persons were killed at the weekend in Lagos when a Toyota Camry saloon car rammed into a stationary truck.

The incident occurred in front of Sura market, Lagos Island, at about 5.30 a.m. on Saturday.

It was gathered that the car driven by one, Babatunde Badmus, aged 30 years, lost its brake before ramming into the stationary truck, killing the three persons onboard.

The driver of the ill-fated car and two other female occupants were said to have given up the ghost instantly.

Lagos State Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO), Samuel Jinadu, confirmed the incident, saying traffic policemen from Adeniji Adele Police Station had visited the scene and removed the corpses to an undisclosed public mortuary for postmor-
