THREE persons lost their lives in a fatal road accident that occurred over the weekend in Warri, Delta State.

The accident which was described as the worst over the years also claimed property running into millions of naira.

It was learnt that the driver of the car, a lady, was coming from the NPA axis when she crashed into a wall along the highway and killed a man selling fruits and juice along the road.

Investigation revealed that two persons inside the vehicle died in the process while the driver sustained serious injuries.

Although the cause of the accident was yet to be ascertained, an unconfirmed source said the driver who was on high speed suddenly lost control and crashed into the fence.

At the scene of the accident, other valuables such as building materials were also destroyed.

Sources said that the survivors of the incident were rushed to a nearby hospital where they are presently receiving treatments.

A similar accident also occurred along the expressway by Chevron Company in December last year where the vehicle was burnt beyond recognition.
