

Boko Haram Insurgents Slaughter Three, As Ritualists Pluck Eyes In Borno

SUNNY NWANKWO

MAIDUGURI

The dreaded Boko Haram terrorists have slaughtered three persons, while three others including a six-year-old boy who is an Almajiri and an old man have lost their eyes when ritualists abducted them and plucked their eyes around Mainari Village of Dalori Quarters near University of Maiduguri, Borno State.

Sources and residents of Dalori Quarters told our correspondent that the slaughtering of three villagers took place on Sunday near Mainari where hundreds of Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs) were taking refuge in one of the unofficial makeshift resettlement camps along Maiduguri-Konduga road.

Other sources also revealed that the plucking off eyes of three persons took place on Monday at various locations of Mainari village and outskirts of Giwa Military Barracks in Maiduguri Metropolis, in which, a victim/ suspected Almajiri was lured by ritualists where they took their victim to bush and did their criminal act living the Almajiri boy not only blind but in his pool of his blood.
