

Cultists Hacked Man To Death In Ebonyi

By Chijioke Agwu - June 14, 2018

Abakaliki – Barely seven days after cult related activities led to the death of two men whose names were given as Mr. Paul Ogeh and Ansalem Omah, following a clash between rival cult groups in Ngbo in Ohaukwu Local Government Area, another person, one Maduabuchi Osazi, has been hacked to death.

INDEPENDENT gathered that Maduabuchi had altercation with persons suspected to be members of a rival cult group on Monday over telecommunication facilities.

He was later trailed and killed while he was going to see his wife where she was frying garri.

ASP Loveth Odah, Ebonyi Police Command Spokesperson, who confirmed the incident to our reporter, said that two persons have been arrested in connection with the killing.

She said: "On the 12th June, 2018 by 12 O'clock, one Simon Akpu of Umuogodoakpu Ngbo came to the station and reported that on the 11th at about 11pm that the deceased one Maduabuchi Obasi of the same address, 25 years old, was hacked down with a sharp weapon on his way to see his wife where she was trying garri.

"The scene of crime was visited by a team of police from Ohaukwu Police Divisional Headquarters. Two suspects were arrested which include one Chinedu Ogba, 25 and one Chukwudi Ali, 26. All of them of same address."

Odah, who disclosed that the corpses of the decease have been deposited in the mortuary at the Ngbo for autopsy, also noted that investigation into the murder was already on, assuring that very soon the case will be transferred to the court after investigation.
