Police Kill Kidnap Suspect In Edo, Arrest 46 Others

The police in Edo have killed a suspected kidnapper and arrested no fewer than 46 other suspected criminals in the last few weeks.

Mr. Johnson Kokumo, The Commissioner of Police in the state, made the disclosure at a news conference on Tuesday in Benin.

He said police operatives also recovered 126 assorted arms and ammunition from the suspects.

Among those arrested, he said, were 17 suspected kidnappers at Urhonigbe near Agbor, Delta.

The commissioner said investigation showed that the same suspects were responsible for the kidnap one Anthony Atemagbo, his wife and daughter on the Ubiaja-Uromi road in Edo.

Kokumo said that while detectives successfully arrested the criminals in their hideouts, they also rescued their victims unhurt.

He also said that nine robbery suspects and 20 suspected cultists were among those arrested in different parts of the state.

Kokumo added that the command recovered about N3 million from some of the kidnap suspects.

While reiterating the commitment of the command to ridding the states of crime, he urged residents to be careful of the company they keep and be mindful of their utterances in public.
