ABUJA – A police outrider in the convoy of the Vice President, Yemi Osinbajo has died in an accident, along Airport Road in Abuja.

The accident occurred at about 3pm on Friday, while the Vice President was being driven to the Nnamdi Azikiwe International Airport where he was to connect a flight to Lagos, for an official engagement at the weekend.

Sources who witnessed the incident, said the police officer in an attempt to clear the way for the Vice President motorcade, got knocked down by a trailer.

The VP, who was said to be devastated by the incident, had to cancel the journey.

Senior Special Assistant to the Vice President on Media and Publicity, Laolu Akande later confirmed the incident in a statement he made available to State House Correspondents, describing the late officer whose name was given as Ali Gomina, as very diligent and hardworking.

The statement read, “With grief in our hearts, we announce the death of one of the police escort riders on the Vice President’s convoy, Inspector Ali Gomina, aged 45, who was involved in a road accident while on official duty today.

“The accident occurred on the road to the Nnamdi Azikiwe International Airport. The Vice President, who is greatly saddened by this occurrence, has aborted the scheduled trip.
