Akure – There was pandemonium in Yaba Street at Idanre, Idanre Local Government Area of Ondo State as Eric Olowokande allegedly sent his wife, Mojere, to early grave with blows.

The peasant farmer, according sources, was said to have walloped his wife during a disagreement between them.

As at the time of filing this report, no one could ascertain the cause of the quarrel between the duo.

Boredom Ad

A source disclosed that it could have been as a result of the man's inability to meet the request of the wife on what the family needed for the Easter celebration.

Eric, sources revealed, lost his temper and hit his wife blows and in the process slumped and gave up the ghost.

Realising that his wife had dropped dead, Eric took to his heels to hide on his farm to avoid being arrested.

Sources revealed that their neighbours went to report the case at the police station in the town.
