Ilesa – The Police at Ilesa, Osun State, are making frantic efforts to arrest the killers of a hotelier, Chief Falola, in Ilesa, Osun State.

Daily Independent gathered that hoodlums killed Falola in the early hours of Thursday night in his hotel at Imo Road, Ilesa.

It was gathered that the gun-trotting hoodlums numbering about six besieged the hotel demanding the whereabouts of Falola whom they suspected kept the night in the hotel.

It was further revealed that unknown to the hoodlums Falola was listening to their discussion with one of the staff of the hotel that early hours of last Thursday.

The source also stated that no sooner that Falola sensed danger than he tried to escape from an opening at the back of the hotel, not knowing that the hoodlums have surrounded the entire hotel but was shot at close range and he died immediately.
