ASABA – Delta State Police Command Monday paraded 32-year-old, Ifie Jonathan, for allegedly killing his 12-year old daughter in Okpe Local Government Area of Delta State.

Daily Independent gathered that the fleeing suspect was nabbed by Police operatives after he drowned his daughter in a river in Mereje community, Okpe Local Government Area.

Commissioner of Police, Hafiz Inuwa, revealed that one of the children, 8-year old, was rescued by community members while the body of the 12-year old daughter was found days after the incident.

While giving reasons for his actions, the suspect was quoted to have said, “My name is Ifie Jonathan, I hail from Okpe Local Government Area of Delta State. I killed my child that is why I am here. She was twelve years old before I killed her. My mother in-law came to me several years ago for me to give her my child because she does not have anyone with her.

“I gave her my daughter because my wife is her only child and people were mocking her that she had no grandchild.

Seun Kuti, an Afrobeat star and son of the late legendary Afrobeat King, Fela Anikulapo-Kuti, will visit the police authorities in Panti, Lagos, on Tomorrow morning over the siege to his residence in Ikeja by police operatives.

Seun Kuti is the leader of Nigeria Resistance Movement (NRM) and one of the promoters of the Movement of the People (MOP), a fledgling political organisation of youths and Nigerian masses, mobilising citizens for future political activities in the country.

His residence, since Friday, had reportedly been an object of police siege, during which a member of his household was taken away.
