UGHELLI – Pandemonium broke out on Tuesday morning in Mosogar community, Ethiope West Local Government Area, Delta state, following the discovery of the corpse of a 29 years old prostitute in her own apartment.

The late prostitute was said to have been allegedly killed by a male customer she came home with on Saturday night.

The girl whose name could not be ascertain as at press time was said to have been missing since on Saturday night.

A reliable source who preferred anonymity told journalists that she came home with a man on Saturday night.

The source who was said to be a neighbour, said he saw the man leaving that night but since then they have not seen her, only to discovered on Tuesday morning that she was dead with her vital organs missing.

Another source who identified himself as Friday, said they were not worried at first when they noticed she was missing since it was her usual style of keeping late nights.

According to Friday, “when we began to experience some foul odour emanating from the direction of her room, we started to be suspicious. We we then informed the police and the door was forced open, only to find her corpse, but her breast and private part were gone.

When contacted, Acting Police Public Relations Officer, Delta State Command, DSP Bright Edefe, confirmed the incident, saying that the door of the deceased was locked from outside and much blood stains were not seen around where her corpse was found.
