The family of Ismail Babajide in Ede, Osun State, has begged the police to fish out Sheriff Kayode Babatunde whom they alleged was responsible for the death of their son, Ismail.

Sheriff is the suspected homosexual partner of Ismail.

The family alleged that both men were caught in an immoral act on October 1, 2019 for which they were slammed with capital punishment that resulted in the death of Ismail, the only child of his parents while his partner bolted.

A family spokesman, Kayode Babajide, told journalists yesterday that the incident resulted in public judgment that led to the death of his partner - Ismail Babajide.

He said, "The family is totally against homosexuality as it is forbidden and we believed that Mr. Sheriff Kayode Babatunde lured Ismail Babajide into the act. His father - Commandant Idris Babajide has been looking for him since the incident with no clue of his whereabouts."

Sheriff is said to be wanted by Nigeria Police operatives for questioning about the death of his partner.

"We wish to inform the public again that Mr. Sheriff Kayode Babatunde is still at large and lurking with another victim hence anyone that has useful information about his whereabouts or who can give us lead to his arrest and conviction for being homosexual should contact Nigeria Police Operatives or Nigerian Army nationwide," Kayode added.
