Details of the attack were still sketchy as at press time but a top army official confirmed the killing but promised to provide details later.

Heavily armed men of the Nigerian Army are regular sights on construction companies' workstations on major roads in Benin City and are believed to be providing security cover for the expatriate workers of the construction firms.

Soldiers were drafted to provide security cover for the expatriate workers after incessant kidnappings in the state forced work stoppage on the Benin-Lagos Express Road.

Contacted, the Edo Police Public Relations Officer, Moses Eguavoen, confirmed the incident but however added that it was one soldier that was killed.
