

are faring so well. Dankwambo, as a plus, has committed over N10bn to the re-invigoration and resurrection of the secondary and primary schools in the state – alone,” the group submitted. It said that it was unthinkable that a govering PDP), it may not be long before the Federal Government is forced to take a decisive action. Pundits say if a decision is to come soon, Kashere may soon bid the Federal university in its domain a painful bye.

TRIBUTE

When The Army Lost Some Of Its Best

The late Dala

BY HUSSAINI JIRGI

When the Boko Haram insurgents attacked and overran the Joint Task Force (JTF) in Damaturu, Yobe State, on Thursday, the 31st of October 2013, one of the casualties was

Lt. Dr Garba Bukar Dala, an Army Medical officer.

Lt. Dr Garba Bukar Dala was born in the month of June 1975 in Fika local govt area of Yobe state. He attended Army Primary School in Jos from 1981-1987, then Brigadier Maimalari Day Secondary School, Maiduguri from 1988-1994, he later went to the University of Maiduguri where he graduated as an MBBS holder in 2007. He did his houseman ship at the Federal Medical Center Yola and after that proceeded for his National Youth Service Corps at the general hospital in Dambatta, Kano State in 2010. He moved to Federal Medical Center Azare, Bauchi state in the year 2011. He attended a 6-month short service military training at Makurdi from 2011 to 2012. He is survived by Bukar Ibrahim Dala as father (a retired army sergeant), Zainab Abdullahi, mother and Hafsat Garba Dala as wife.