

Woman Kills Husband Over N100

BY ABDULLAHI OLESIN, Ilorin

Tragedy struck in Ilorin, the Kwara State capital yesterday when a house wife allegedly struck her brick layer husband to death.

The woman simply identified as Mariam allegedly hacked her husband to death following a disagreement between them over N100.

The incident which occurred at Oloje area of Ilorin threw the entire community into confusion as sympathisers thronged the deceased's compound.

LEADERSHIP gathered that the woman had recently returned to her matrimonial home after she parted ways with her husband following irreconcilable differences but their relationship went sour again leading to a hot argument yesterday over N100 which the woman was said to have demanded from the deceased.

The deceased, a source said, was said to have told the wife that he had no money and this did not go down well with her thereby leading into a hot argument and in the process, the frustrated wife was said to have picked a stick and hit her husband on the head with it