Police in Gombe State have confirmed the gruesome murder of a popular PDP youth leader in the state.

Alhaji Adamu Yusuf, also known as Cooler, was murdered yesterday by yet-to-be-identified criminal gang.

According to the police public relations officer of the Gombe State Police command, DSP Fwaje Atajiri, the criminals, in their numbers, attacked the residence of the late Adamu in Checheniya area of the town around 11:45pm on Tuesday, December 31, 2013, and killed him.

He further said that when one of Adamu's neighbours, name withheld, who heard the fracas going on outside, came out and was shouting for help from neighbours when the attackers pounced on him and also killed him, while another neighbour, who also came out on hearing the commotion, sustained serious injuries and is currently receiving treatment at an undisclosed hospital.

Though no arrest has been made, the DSP Atajiri described the incident as unfortunate and said investigation was going on.

He warned perpetrators of such dastardly act to desist or face the full wrath of the law, saying the police will not fold its arms and allow miscreants disturb the prevailing peace in the state.

He called on the general public to cooperate with the police by furnishing it with useful information that could lead to the arrest of the culprits.
