Vehicle Kills Pregnant Woman In Lagos

BY MATTHEW DIKE, Lagos

Sympathisers and friends wept like babies in Mile Two area of Lagos State, yesterday when a vehicle knocked down a pregnant woman.

The victim, her four-year-old daughter Caroline and three women were returning from a wedding held at FES-TAC Town when the incident occurred.

LEADERSHIP Sunday investigations revealed that the people were returning to Ajegunle area of the metropolis where they live.

One of her friends, Akudo who went to the party with them revealed that as they were attempting to cross the Mile Two expressway, Mama Caro who they believed held the hand of her daughter eventually allowed her hand to slip from hers.

Akudo said as a Toyota Pathfinder on top speed was moving closer, Caroline ran back. Akudo said in attempt to secure the life of her daughter who was confused, Mama Caroline also ran back to save her but unfortunately the vehicle crushed her while the daughter escaped death by the whiskers.

She said the hit-and-run vehicle was nowhere to be found as the driver on seeing the tragedy, accelerated.

She said it took them time to get a mini-bus that took the victim to the hospital, though she died on the way.

She said they found it difficult even as this reporter was filing the incident, to inform the husband at their Ojo Road residence in Ajegunle about the death of his beloved wife.
