Rampaging cultists in Asaba, Delta State, have reportedly killed two farmers around Okwe-Asaba and secretly buried them inside the forest.

It was gathered that the victims were allegedly murdered in cold blood on their way to the farm after which the corpses were buried inside thick forest.

Sources said activities of cultists in Asaba, have increased in recent times, with orgy of killings, especially youths believed to be opposition members.

According to investigations, cult war was confirmed to have spread from Asaba to other parts of the state as no fewer than 13 persons suspected to be opposition cult members have been allegedly killed in the last two months.

But the police image maker in the state, DSP Celestina Kalu, said that men of the anti-kidnapping squad while on patrol routine, acted on a tip-off as they immediately swung into action to uncover where the victims were buried and abandoned in their graves by the hoodlums.

Kalu who said that the police were on the trail of the hoodlums, added that six other suspected cultists were currently helping the police and that they would be charged to court after investigation.
