AUTO CRASH: 2 Teenagers Die In Accident

BY JOSHUA DADA, OSOGBO

Pandemonium broke out at Olode in Ife-South local government area of Osun state yesterday when a lorry carrying logs of wood lost control and killed an 18-year-old boy, Elijah Omoloye.

However, driver of the lorry took to his heels immediately the accident occurred while residents of the town vent their anger on his conductor and beat him to death.

LEADERSHIP gathered that all efforts made to pacify and rescue the lorry-boy from the angry mob by the monarch of the town, Oba David Omisore proved futile as they ensured that the boy died especially when it was allegedly found out that the boy was drunk.

However, the death of the duo degenerated into fracas among the community but was brought under control by a detachment of security agents deployed to the area to ensure law and order prevails in the community.

Though no arrest has been made as at press time, however, normalcy has been restored to the area by the police.

When contacted the state police public relation officer, PPRO Mrs Folashade Odoro (DSP) confirmed the incident.

She said investigation has commence on the matter adding that anybody found culpable would face the wrath of the law immediately investigation was concluded.
