A 10-year-old primary four pupil of Orogodo Primary School, Agbor, identified as Mariam Osagie, has been shot dead by armed bandits who invaded their house at Obianike Street near Local Housing Estate, Agbor.

A member of the victim's family, one Ngozi Edokpolor, told our correspondent that he heard his sister shouting on that fateful night, and the next thing he heard was a gunshot that forced every occupant of the house to scamper for their dear lives.

He added that immediately after the gun shot, he saw five boys with three of them on mask, brandishing their guns in the process.

He said when he tried to ask what they wanted, one of them asked him to give them money. "They succeeded in taking my handset because I told them I don't have money. I discovered that my sister's daughter, Mariam, has been killed after they left. Mariam is about 10 years of age and a primary four pupil of Orogodo Primary School, Agbor," Edokpolor stated.

Meanwhile, luck ran out of a suspected motorcycle thief yesterday after he was nabbed in an attempt to steal a motorcycle at the new site of the College of Education, Agbor, Delta State

The suspect who was unable to talk after much torture by the students and angry mob, had on him, an identity card, identifying him as an officer of the Nigeria Maritime Authority, with his name as Ogberohwo Anthony, Force NO 504657.
