

some senior officers and vacancies occasioned by retirements.

By Chika Otuchikere, Abuja

Vigilante Group Kills 4 Fleeing Boko Haram Insurgents In Guyuk

Four fleeing Boko Haram insurgents have met their Waterloo in Guyuk when local vigilante group who are on their trail from Gombi local government, Adamawa State where they had earlier lunched attack engaged, and killed them in a gun duel.

Sources from Gombi local government indicated that on learning that the fleeing insurgents were being chased from Gombi, by the vigilante group, all the escape routes from the town were blocked by residents of the area making the fleeing Boko Haram insurgents to be trapped.

Our reporter learnt from sources in the town that residents of the town including many retired military personnel have vowed to frustrate any insurgent attack on them leading to their blockage of the routes and scuttling the insurgents' attempt to escape.

A resident of Guyuk who preferred anonymity said the insurgents were fully dressed in military fatigue and wielding AK 47 rifles alongside other dangerous weapons.

By Mohammed Ismail, Yola