Controversies have continued to trail the alleged murder of Eze Nwayo Onyesomazun, 56, and his 16-year-old daughter in Ogbeisogban Quarters, Ime-Obi Agbor, Delta State last Thursday.

Sources said the duo were allegedly murdered with machetes in the early hours of the fateful Thursday when unidentified assailants attacked them in their house while they were deeply asleep.

It was reliably gathered that the suspects inflicted various degrees of machete cuts on the duo during the attack, leading to their death before help came their way when the deceased's wife raised the alarm.

Eze and his daughter gave up the ghost after they had bled for few minutes in their home. They were pronounced dead at a nearby hospital they were rushed to.

Speaking to our correspondent, the wife of the deceased, Mrs. Nkechi Onyesomazun, said her husband and daughter were killed for no reason, adding: "They killed my daughter and my husband for his good deeds; this is the reward for my husband; my God will expose their killers".

While the remains of Eze and his daughter have been deposited in a mortuary in the area, the police in Agbor Division said a suspect identified as Friday had been arrested, disclosing that Eze and the daughter might have been killed by armed robbers who invaded their house on the fateful day.

But the police public relations officer in the state, DSP Celestina Kalu, said investigation was ongoing and assured that the police will apprehend the killers.
