Ten-year-old Bello Alhaji Abdul of Tudun Maje, Giade local government area of Bauchi State, drowned yesterday after he fell into a stream in Jugudu village. Bauchi State police spokesman, DSP Haruna Mohammed, stated this in an email yesterday. It read: "The scene of the incident was visited by police detectives attached to Giade Division and the victim rushed to General Hospital Giade for treatment but was certified dead by a medical doctor."

Mohammed said the boy's body was subsequently released to his relatives for burial after postmortem examination, adding that there was no mark of violence or foul play suspected. He urged parents to caution their children against going to rivers/streams in order to prevent drowning, which is becoming rampant in the state.
