Tussle over a farmland in Anguwan Mamman area of Obi local government of Nasarawa State has claimed the lives of three persons, yesterday, after it turned bloody along ethnic lines.

The avoidable incident started at about 8am in Anguwan Mamman when a Gwandara family wanted to take possession of a piece of farmland they reportedly gave an Eggon farmer on lease over 20 years ago.

Sources from the area said after a minor scuffle on the farm which left one person injured, Gwandara youths from Odobu Alago were said to have mobilised themselves and launched an attack on Anguwan Mamman.

In the ensuing fracas three persons lost their lives which led to mass exodus from the area into Lafia, the state capital.

Only one house was torched whose motive was largely seen as an act of vandalism since it was a place where locally brewed alcohol, popularly called Burukutu, was brewed.

When contacted, the Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO) ASP Ismaila Numan, said security men had been drafted to the area and normalcy had been restored.

He confirmed that three persons were killed in the incident while one who was critically injured was receiving treatment at an undisclosed hospital in Lafia.
