BY KOLA EKE-OGIUGO, Asaba

An Asaba based commercial motorcyclist, popularly known as Okada, Danjuma Bako, 22 years old has been found dead in Kwale bush, near Asaba. He was allegedly hired by two unknown passengers from the popular Akpu Junction, Okpanam Road in the state capital.

It was gathered that the victim was last seen at about 7pm last Sunday when two men came to hire him to take them to fulani camp located inside akpu junction area in Asaba. It was learnt that Danjuman whose colleagues at the akpu junction motorcycle park said hails from Plateau state never returned from that journey.

When our reporter visited the motorcycle park yesterday to ascertain what actually happened, the leadership of the park is still in shock and wondering how his corpse could be found in faraway Kwale bush when the two passengers who hired him did so to take them to fulani camp located in Asaba, the Delta state capital.

Speaking to our reporter, the park secretary simply identified as Mr. Ibina Colinus, said they were all surprised that the victim could not come back on that very day.

He said every day, for years now, they have plied their trade at akpu junction, even very late at night without any bad news of one of them missing, adding that this is the first time such a bad thing is happening to a member of the park.

The park secretary said immediately the victim's neighbours came to report of his failure to return the previous night and after asking questions from his close friends, they organized search parties, looking for him in all the bushes in Asaba and its environs but could not get his whereabouts and so they decided to call his number severally.
