
Orogun Kingdom Representative Dies In Gas Explosion

BY FELIX IGBEKOYI, Asaba

The representative of president-general of Orogun Kingdom in Delta State, Pastor Onos Adese, has been reported dead in a gas explosion.

Adese along with his wife and housemaid were reported to have been badly injured in the explosion at his country home, Orogun in Ughelli North local government area.

They were rushed to the University of Benin Teaching Hospital Benin City, Edo State where the representative died, while his wife and housemaid remained in critical condition.

Chairman of the Forum Presidents General in Urhobo

Nation, Chief Godwin Notoma, confirmed the death to our correspondent.

Notoma who doubles as the president general of Udu Kingdom, described the death as a terrible loss to the forum.

Similarly, the president general of Agbarha Warri Kingdom, Chief Emmanuel Ememu (JP) described the death of Pastor Adese as a rude shock.

"He never claimed to be the president general of Orogun

Kingdom in our forum but he would rather always introduce himself as the representative of the president general, that showed the humility and honesty in him," Chief Ememu added.
