A mob had on Thursday in Ipata market area of Ilorin, the state capital, beaten a woman later identified by the police as a destitute, to stupor following suspicion that she was a kidnapper.

She later died the same day at the General Hospital, Ilorin from the injuries sustained during the attack.

The state government made its intention to bring the perpetrators to book in a statement issued by the commissioner for social development, Dr Mariam Nnfatima Imam.

The commissioner warned members of the public against taking the law into their hands, urging them to always report suspected individuals to the appropriate authorities for prosecution.
