Land Dispute Woman killed, Another Wounded In Taraba

L

Thu, 23/02/2012 - 5:05am | JOHN MKOM News
Crime

Despite the recent warning by the Taraba State Governor, Mr. Danbaba Suntai to the two warring tribes, Tiv and Fulani, to desist from killing each other over land dispute, a Tiv woman was yesterday reportedly murdered and another seriously injured with machete cuts by suspected Fulanis herdsmen.

Trouble started when two Fulani boys who were out for grazing were killed by suspected Tiv persons from Chanchangi village in Tarkum.

The state police command arrested five village heads from Chanchangi village of Takum local government to answer questions over the killings.

The Tiv women were reportedly attacked while coming back from their church activities.

One of the women was killed on the spot while the other sustained severe injuries and is currently receiving
