A suspected robber was at the weekend lynched and burnt to death at Awka-Etiti in Idemili Local Government Area of Anambra State

The suspect, who specialised in stealing vehicles parked at occasions using master keys had successfully made away with a Mercedes 190 E parked along the entrance to the palace of the new monarch of the town.

Eye witnesses said a young man called Chidi Ezekwuluonwe spotted the car leaving the car park and claimed the vehicle belonged to his in-law, boarded a commercial motorcycle to meet him.

Unfortunately for the suspect, he was held up in the traffic because of the crowd at the coronation in the town.

When he caught up with the car, he realised that the driver was not his in-law.
