

One killed as robbers storm milk firm

ARMED robbers yesterday killed the Chief Security Officer (CSO) of Luna Milk Company in Apapa area of Lagos.

Two of the robbers were, however, killed by policemen attached to the Anti-Robbery Squad of Apapa Police Station.

The hoodlums, about five, stormed the company on foot, around 3am.

It was learnt that the CSO, whose name was given as Alhaji Tiluba, and other security personnel could not prevent the gang from entering the premises.

But for the timely arrival

Yoruba elders lament

By Jude Isiguzo

of the police in Apapa, the robbers would have succeeded in robbing the firm.

Speaking on the incident, the command spokesman, Frank Mba said the timely response of the police saved the day.

Mba, a Superintendent of Police, said two of the robbers were killed. He said his men is already closing in on those that escaped.

Mba said one English pistol and a locally made double barrel gun, 18 live ammunition and some expended ammunition were recovered.

The police spokesman said that investigation has commenced.