Dipo Dina shot dead

 By Our Reporter | Published Today | News | Rating: ★★★★★

Dipo Dina

Ogun State Action Congress (AC) governorship candidate Dipo Dina was shot dead last night.

He was killed in the industrial town of Sango Ota, Ogun State by unknown assailants who shot him through the windshield of his SUV, a source said.

In his Ijebu-Ode hometown, there was anxiety as news of his death spread. Many were anxious for a confirmation of the story.

Sources close to the family said Dina was shot dead and that calls to his line were not answered.

Details of the incident were not clear last night. A source said the assailants said his life had been paid for before shooting him in the presence of two others. The others were driven away and dropped off by the assailants.

Reacting last night, AC National Publicity Secretary Lai Mohammed said from the sketchy details obtained the incident looked "more of political assassination than robbery".

He said: "If three people were in a car and two were allowed to walk away and the third shot dead what do you make of that? Considering the political party he belonged to his death smacks of assassination".

"The incident shows the high level of insecurity and political intolerance in the country. This is not good for our democracy. It is so, sad".

Fondly called D-Direct, the Ijebu Ode born economist and businessman was a philanthropist who extended a duty of care to the needy, orphans, widows, jobless youths and indigent students.

He was a consistent progressive politician who rejected overtures to defect to the rival Peoples Democratic Party (PDP). In 2003, he contested for the House of Representatives on the platform of AD. He lost, but he said that he was rigged out. In 2007, he was the AC governorship candidate in Ogun State. He lost and went to the tribunal to protest the alleged rigging. The case was struck out.

In 2007, the government of Ogun State frustrated the move to confer a chieftaincy title on him by the Olu of Ilaro. He had prepared for the ceremony. All things he had bought, including invitation letters, were wasted. The government also cancelled the empowerment programme he planned for Ipokia. PDP thugs attacked his convoy in Yewa division and he was assaulted.

Undoubtedly Nigeria is a terrorist country where lives are wasted. People perceived by their enemies are killed at random. For a philanthropist like Dipo Dina to be wasted just like this on political reasons smacks of irresponsibility, and the government of Ogun State should be held responsible and be made to give an account of circumstances that led to the assassination of this young philanthropist. Look like the way they frustrated him. Look like the way they assaulted him. Ogun government from the account of the this article you will not escape from what led to Dipo's death even though his assailants were not caught, Supreme deity saw them and will someday expose the killers and sponsors of this heinous act. God please save us from the unknown.

If this is what politics and democracy is all about (Wanton destruction of life, assassination of political oponents, looting of the state treasury, looting of the nations entire banking systems by few disgruntled element) I think Nigerians do not need such a calous system of governance.

I think it is only the bar and the judiciary the major beneficiary of rigged election and illogical attendant court cases the put fruadulent money in their hand that would desire this charade called democracy to continue. It is known fact that our judiciary from the supreme court to the least is very corrupt.

This is the hand work Gbenga Daniel's killer squad. We are gradually comming to the end of this rubbish called democracy in this country.

A basterdised system where you can not vote freely for your candidate and where our vote do not count.

Kudos to Gbenga Daniel - a genius in polotical assassination.

Have we ever witnessed this type state of insecurity in Nigeria during military era? If it is not assassination, it is armed robbery, or kidn apping, political violence or religious uprising. The only soothing balm on this latest crime is that the chief security officer of Ogun state – OGD should take up the challenge at ensuring that the original killer of Dipo Dina is paraded before the entire world in the next 72 hours. Ayo Ibikunle, You have said it all. I do not think we really need this democracy; we some people believe that it is their prerogative to determine who and who rule over us. Tell me how Nigeria democracy is better than Military rule. At least the military do not kill us the wasy these politicians kill and instigate killing. Moreover it is too expensive. Enough Is Enough. Does it mean if I have Ideas but not politically violent I should not come near party politics in Nigeria?
