

Student dies in auto crash

HENRY Nwubo, a 100-Level student at the Nnamdi Azikiwe University (UNIZIK), Awka, is dead. He died in an accident on the Enugu/Onitsha highway.

The accident was reportedly caused by a drunken lorry driver. Henry was unconscious for three days at an undisclosed hospital before he died.

Before his death, Henry had worked as a photographer in his department where admirers called him "Henro". The job was a means of livelihood to him as he paid his school fees from its proceeds.

From Ngozi Emmanuel

UNIZIK

Students of the department described Henry as a friendly and accommodating person. As a sign of respect, the students held a black procession around the campus.