

Students die in road crash

TWO students of the Federal University of Technology (FUT), Minna, Niger State, have died in an auto crash on the Abuja-Minna Highway. They are Benson Olotu, in 500-Level Physics and Michael Akinmade, in 300-Level Mechanical Engineering.

They were returning to school when the accident occurred.

The FUT Minna community was thrown into shock when news of their death broke. Hard hit was the Fellowship of Christian Students (FCS) FUT Minna where the deceased were 'active' members.

They have since been buried in Minna by their families.

Olaolu Taiwo, a 500-Level student of Agric Engineering and also member of the Publicity Unit in FCS described their death as shocking: "How can young people's lives with bright and great future just get terminated like that? Governments at all levels must make plans to repair all roads to ensure safety."
