but eventually killed her.

Igbo said the girl's body was found in a cassava farm with some of her parts missing.

He said two of the suspects had confessed to the crime.

Igbo said: "Seven persons suspected to have killed little Miss Ukamaka last Sunday at Agubia, Ikwo Local Government Area, have been arrested. We perceive this as a ritual killing and not kidnapping because the deceased's legs, hands and eyes were missing.

"Two of the suspects have confessed to the crime. From the information we gathered, they did not intend to kill the victim. They abducted her with the aim of extorting money from her parents.

"One of the suspects said after the child was kidnapped, he left the gang and went into the town, but returned to meet her body. He said he was not involved in her murder.

"Some of them were arrested on Sunday while others were arrested yesterday. The community contributed immensely to their arrest.

Igbo thanked members of the Ebonyi Youth Assembly (EYA) for assisting the police.

EYA Founder Comrade Chinedu Ogah said the suspects demanded N2 million ransom from the deceased's father.

He said EYA has established a strong security network across the state and warned criminals to steer clear.
