-40 dead in Adamawa, three in Maiduguri

-Security chiefs move to Mubi

THE drums may have been silent on Independence Day. Not so the guns of yet unknown assailants who stormed Mubi, Adamawa State's second major town, on Monday.

No fewer than 40 students were killed by the gunmen who unleashed a storm of bullets on a community where students live. But the police said 25 people died.

There are three higher institutions of learning in the town – the Adamwa State University, the Federal Polytechnic and the School of Health Technology.

Three students of the University of Maiduguri were killed also on Monday.

The three were murdered by unknown assailants in their apartments at 202 Housing Estate.

Residents of the estate said the assailants sneaked into the area and killed two of the students – a woman and a man. The third was said to have escaped through the back door but was shot.

"He died in the hospital. He was a friend from southern Borno but his father is in Abuja," one of his colleagues who identified himself as Ezekiel, said.

Adamawa Police spokesman Mohammed Ibrahim confirmed that 25 people were killed, 19 of them students of the Federal Polytechnic, Mubi.

The News Agency of Nigeria (NAN) reported that the embattled town of Mubi had been under curfew since the past 10 days, following series of killings and destruction of communication masts.

The 24-hour curfew was relaxed to 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. five days ago by the State Government, following some arrests and recovery of explosives in the house-to-house search in the commercial border town.

The president of the Federal Polytechnic, Mubi Students Union, Elias Pwanidi, told our correspondent on the telephone, that six bodies, of the 34 that he claimed were killed, had been identified at the Mubi General Hospital Mortuary.

He said the majority of those killed were students of the institution who were preparing for the start of second semester examination yesterday.

He listed some of the dead as including: Chimonbi Festus (Civil Engineering HNDI) the PRO of the students union and Lucky Emmanuel (ND II) the outgoing president of the Mass Communication Students Union.

Others are: Ishaku Ibrahim (ND II Mass Communication), Ayo (surname unavailable) ND I Electrical Engineering and Emmanuel (surname unavailable) HNDI Electrical Engineering.

The Nation could not confirm the names last night as the school's authorities could not be reached.

Many injured – some critically – in the attacks which lasted more that one hour are on admission at the Mubi General Hospital.

The shootings kept the city residents awake all night.

A source said 40 bodies were deposited at the Mubi General Hospital, adding that as at yesterday morning, more

The incident came barely a week after the Joint Military Task Force recorded a major breakthrough arresting over 156 suspected terrorists and discovering a local bomb manufacturing factory as well as a cache of arms and ammunition.

The Brigade Commander of 23 Armoured Brigade, Yola, Brigadier General John Nwoaga, Commissioner of Police Goeffrey Okereke, Director of State Security Service (SSS) and other Service Commanders have relocated to Mubi.

A Federal Polytechnic spokesman said it was a "commando style attack".

The spokesman said the unknown gunmen invaded the area, shooting sporadically at any moving person, for over one hour.

"There was heavy gun fire of different calibers around 10 pm till 11pm, when it subsided."

He said 26 students of the Federal Polytechnic, Mubi are among the dead. While the others are students of the other two institutions in the town.

The internal joint security task force headed by Brig-Gen. Nwoaga and Police Commissioner Geofrey Okeke, were rushing reinforcements to Mubi.

Some agencies gave another account of the attacks.

"They are conducting elections in the Federal Polytechnic and unknown gunmen just entered and sprayed people with bullets," said Abdulkarim Bello of the Red Cross, adding that more than 10 people were killed.

A National Emergency Management Agency (NEMA) spokesman said initial reports indicated some of the victims were candidates in the polls.

There were conflicting reports over whether the elections were being held or had been carried out in previous days.

"It was shooting by unknown gunmen," said the agency's Yushau Shuaib. "A number of people died."

A military spokesman confirmed that there was an incident involving gunmen, but could not provide further details.

"I am now on my way to Mubi in the company of other security officials," Lt. Saleh Mohammed Buba told AFP.

"There was an incident at the polytechnic involving some gunmen."

The killings caused an exodus from the town by both students and staff of the institutions.

A lecturer on condition of anonymity said he learnt that about 40 bodies had been deposited at Mubi General Hospital Mortuary.

Some of the fleeing lecturers of the polytechnic, who are not authorised to speak, said they saw at least 10 truckloads of soldiers and riot policemen moving into the troubled town.

Some of the students were said to have converged on the Rector's home with their luggage as early as 7am yesterday.

The BBC had earlier reported that "at least 20 students have been shot dead by unknown gunmen in Mubi, north-eastern Nigeria", a police source.

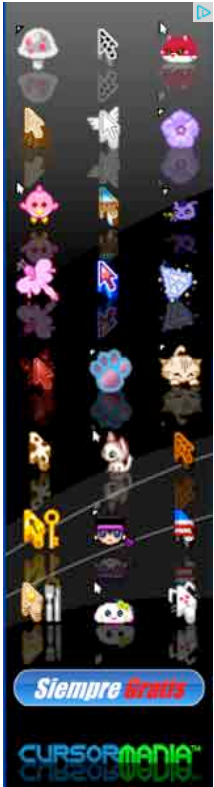

"The attack happened at a student hostel away from the Federal Polytechnic Mubi campus," the source said.

A lecturer told the BBC that more than 40 students had been killed.

The reported killing comes days after a major operation against the Boko Haram militant group in the town.

The lecturer, who did not want his name to be used, told the BBC's Hausa Service that the students were asked to say their names after lining up.

He says it is not clear why some were killed and others spared – some of those killed were Muslims.

"Everybody is scared and staying indoors now," he said.

He added that students were now leaving the town, many with tree branches over their cars- a traditional sign of neutrality in Nigeria.

Mubi is in Adamawa state, which has a mixed Muslim and Christian population and borders Borno State, where Boko Haram came to prominence in 2009, staging an uprising in the state capital, Maiduguri.

Boko Haram has not yet commented on the Mubi attacks.

Have said it before, intelligence work is a failure in dis country. Just yesterday some commenters where hailing, we are winning d war. Now tell me 156 where arrested previously, some killed yet less dan a week more serious attack. D question remains how populated is d cult boko haram? where his there recruitment centre or camp? what is dare pattern of recruitment? How long does it take them to train dare foot fighter? I mean it's not all about, tip-off dare most be a meeting time, place, camp, plans or even initiation period. Common dis guys are not ghost. I am aware d SSS knows almost every one including our back ground, if dey don't want to blow dare cover, d president could give order to other security agents to round dis guy up for once except dare are compromise but atleast not at expense of d lives of dis beloved youths.

Seun, I agree with your views as expressed here 100%. my inner man tells me that the presedency knows both the financiers and moral sponsorees of these criminals that came from the pit of hell to cause harvoc on our nation. We should not forget what the president said months ago that these criminals are in almost all government agencies and parastatals, including villa – Aso rock and NASS. Few months or weeks later, a senator from borno state was mentioned as one of the financiers of these evil men and women. My take on this was that the president is being careful not hurt his political associates because of his political future come 2015. Remember what the former NSA told the world at Asaba and the kind of people or category of men and women that condemned what General Azazi said. General Azazi is not a politician. By his training, Azazi cannot toy with the security of nigeria like these politicians at the corridors of power that are ready to toy with the lives of nigerians. Just like what my Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ of Nazareth said many years ago " what shall it profit a man to gain the whole world and loss his ONLY soul". Its sad that nigerians are being killed in churches, markets, homes, schools and offices at will.

Selfa,

Information from another source that may not have been explored by the Nation suspects the SUG elections as the source of the attack on these students. The source stated that those that were shot first had their names called out by the attackers before killing them!

If you check the list of victims, you will see names of SUG officials, candidates and their supporters featuring prominently.

Lastly, US, Norway and other intelligence and technologically advanced countries still find it very difficult to full stem the tide of this insider attacks. On CNN and others we hear of shooting sprees here and there and every now and then?! This is because insiders wars are the most difficult wars for any government to fight, but with citizens alertness and co-operation, it can be minimised to the lowest possible!

This killings are one sided. Only the Ezekiels and the Seuns were targeted. This is another face of jihad. Period! Information about these deceased was gathered in-house by fellow students of the other side of the divide! Boko Haram is in many institutions in the north, including the secondary schools. This is because many children were taught to hate other people of different believes. See it the way I have analysed it and you will have a better view of Nigeria.I am also from the north.

The nigerian security network are just shallow in their intelligence gathering. It is very clear that the so called Boko Haram are masterminded by military and most of them reside inside the Army barracks and they use mainly low ranking army officers like recruits and militant barack boys to execute their operations. Most of the weapons are kept secretly inside the barracks and after each operations they would retire inside the barracks where they have immunity. Nigerian military should put up a thorough surveillance and monitoring inside the barracks and on their men who are members of JTF as most of them are saboteurs. Take a case of kidnapping of Mikel Obi father in Jos where members of JTF used their official vehicle in the operation and moved the old man from Jos to Kano within few hours and from there they started asking for ransom. The killings in Mubi must have been authorized by the political wing of Boko Haram to create worldwide outcry and to prove to the international community that there is no peace and stability in nig.

Other youths from you are working to bring liberations to you all and please exercise patience and endeavour little longer. We shall soon arrive as our Southern leaders, Christian leaders and even Massob, OPC, NDPVF etc have failed us the youths of the south for selfish gains. Please, tell your brothers, sisters, friends and relations to leave all Hausa/Fulani part(s) of Nigeria. God's hand shall soon be in Nigeria. If you pray for peace/unity in Nigeria, you are right but we do not and will arrive for a movement to separate either peacefully or war. God bless you all.

This is a serious harm done to us by the colonial masters in 1914, as different families with different aspirations, norms and values, beliefs and culture were forced together to bear same surname called 9geria. it was the root of corruption as anyone who had opportunity to be in position of trust without any sense of patriotism see it as an avenue to develop his region which is wide enough to be a nation resulting to persistent power tussle between the north and south. we pretend to be a nation when there is no iota of oneness in us, the moment certain group sights you, they already see you as an enemy ready to eliminate you at slightest provocation. how can human and cannibals, light and darkness live together? honestly, we're not and can never be one. peaceful disintegration will do us a whole lot of good.

More and more blames without a single solution. I suggest every family in the north to contribute five persons (male or female, they have enough humans) to form Northern People's Volunteer force and equip them with matchets, bows and arrows, charms...to eradicate this boko menace. It is feasible.

Our leaders are still better than most of us. Due to our religious sentiment we choose not to be objective in analyzing events as they unfold. Our leaders dont jump to conclusion like we do when something ugly happen to one of us. Recently in the said institution there was an election which a northerner (who is a christian) won the election against his rival who is from the south east and soon after there was this massive killing of students and the report has it that students were carefully selected b4 they are killed. And we should know that Mubi is not a typical northern state that ppl are identified with their religion. ppl in that town are identified with their location. So the accusing fingers is pointing more in the direction of the students from the east who are more popular with cultism. So why do u abuse and condemn islam and muslims when any crisis unfolds. We muslims are not killers except few of us. and this is natural with any religion for every society has it own deviants.

B4 these stupid boko haram have threatened war against schools after their last attack at BUK then why is it that the security operatives have not considered beefing security around our schools and the students quarters. This goes ahead to indicate our govt places not much regard on our leaders of tmoro. Again our NASS members who are insisting that corpses be forced to serve in this volatile can now see reason why they should not be posted there. By counting u will see that majority of the victims are southerners and christians

The inability of Nigeria, not just the administration of Goodluck Jonathan, but the collaborative actions of the so-called elders in Nigeria to address the Boko Haram menace is greatly disarming and tends to say more than meets the eyes. This is my take on the issue

By the time the names of vitims are released people will know that is the handwork of boko-haram. Boko-haram is another name adopt by satan and its followers are the sects, they drink human blood and that why the shed blood.
