Sources said the victims, simply identified as Sodiq and Wale, boarded a commercial motorcycle and were going to attend a morning lecture when the accident occurred.

The protesters claimed that the deplorable condition of the road leading to the school and the alleged failure of the institution's management to provide a decent transportation system was responsible for the accident.

They made bonfires on major roads and popular junctions in the town.

The Welfare Officer of the Students' Union Government (SUG), Mr. Tanimomo Opeyemi, alleged that the accident was caused by the heaps of sand on the road, which is under construction.

He said the contractor handling the project had abandoned it and the students were victims of the institutional neglect.

The authorities of the institution have closed down the college to prevent a further breakdown of law and order.

In a statement, the Registrar, Alhaji G. O. Kolawole, directed all students to proceed on a mid-semester break and vacate the campus.

He said the date of resumption would be communicated to the students through the media.

Police spokesperson Folasade Odoro said the police are on top of the situation.
