

Two missing Edo WAI officials found

From Osagie Otabor, Benin

TWO officials of the Edo State Committee on War Against Indiscipline (WAI) reportedly 'abducted' last Wednesday by some commercial motorcycle riders have been found.

One was found naked on the Benin bye-pass where he was allegedly dumped. The other was found on First East Circular Road in the city.

WAI officials and cyclists clashed last Wednesday over alleged killing of two motorcyclists.

Several motorcycles were destroyed; some WAI officials and motorcyclists were injured.

WAI Chairman, David Olukoga told The Nation on phone that one of the officials was locked up in an apartment where he was found.

He said they were awaiting the conclusion of police investigations.
