There was confusion on Monday at Aganyan village in Surulere Local Government Area of Oyo State, as the body of a young boy was found inside a river.

The deceased, Tosin Ajheigbe Atikekeresola, an indigene of Ilesa in Osun State, was, until his death, an external candidate of the National Examinations Council (NECO), who lived with one of his colleagues in the village.

The Nation learnt that Tosin and his colleagues went to the river to fetch water, but he got drowned.

Our source said immediately the incident occurred, Tosin's colleagues ran away. The villagers expressed shock and disbelief at the incident.

Police have begun investigation into the matter.
