

sort.

According to him, the move is necessary if the state must generate more funds to execute more capital projects.

Fayemi said laws would be invoked to ensure that the state is not robbed of the taxes due to it.

He said his administration had increased the internally-generated revenue (IGR) from the N109 million he met on assumption of office in 2010 to over N600 million monthly.

The governor went on: "This was possible because of the mechanisms put in place to plug the loopholes through which the money due to the state illegally found its way into private pockets."

(PIIA) criticised by the academic staff of the state university was not the making of his administration but was passed by the National Assembly, stressing that he was duty-bound to enforce it.

He described as unacceptable, a situation where a professor at the Ekiti State University (EKSU), who earns liament elected by the people.

The Chairman of the State Internal Revenue Service, Mr. Isola Akingbade, said the enforcement of the law was needed to ensure tax payment.

He noted that social amenities could be provided when people pay their taxes

Babalola, who was represented by Prof. Adewale Alawiye, hailed the Fayemi administration for the transformation of the state, saying it is ironical that tax evaders also benefit from the amenities provided by the government.

STUDENTS of the University of Lagos, who gathered for a convention in their lecture hall at 11:30am, Many of them were making effort to vacate the two-week strike, the first floor of Bello Hall touch the hall for the governor's agreement. Academic staff of the Universities of Lagos and their cups and bells and

One dead, five injured in accident

From Damisi Ojo, Akure

ONE person died and five others were injured early yesterday in an accident on the Akure-Ilesha Road.

According to an eyewitness, the crash involved a taxi and a truck carrying yams.

Residents of the area woke up to see the auto crash that claimed one life. Five others including the driver were lucky to narrowly escape death.

Officials of the Federal Road Safety Commission (FRSC) confirmed the accident. They warned motorists to be cautious when driving.

The Head of Operations of the FRSC, who led officials to the scene, said the injured have been taken to hospital.

aim save
UNITY BANK PROMO

GRAB THE 3-in-1 ADVANTAGE

- 1 GROW YOUR MONEY
- 2 WIN EXCITING PRIZES & BUSINESS TOOLS
- 3 WIN A TOTAL OF N5m SCHOLARSHIP

How to qualify... save the following amount

- A250,000 to qualify for KIA Rio 2011 Car
- N100,000 to qualify for business improvement tools
- N10,000 to qualify for 32" LED TV

Consolation Prizes include Refrigerators, Gas Cookers, Instant Prizes await those who open new accounts or...

This Savings Promo lasts 6 months beginning June, 2011

Examples:
Visit any Unity Bank Branch
call customer care on - 01-234 5678
or send a mail to we_care@unitybankng.com
www.unitybankng.com