...as robbers shot in Ogun

The Ogun State Police Command has arrested fake journalist, Tosin Awotedo, for raping a girl of 10 years old in Igbeba Ijebu Ode.

The minor who hawks Fufu was said to have been raped severally by the 47 years old Awotedo, in his Igbeba apartment for more than four times before he was finally arrested by the police.

It was learnt that the victim's mother, who was alerted by her neighbours of the recurrent misdeeds of the suspect, reported it to the police

The Police Public Relations Officer, Mr Olumuyiwa Adejobi, who confirmed the incident, said the suspect was interrogated by the Divisional Police Officer in Igbeba, Mr Halilu Muahawiya, and he claimed to be a journalist but was discovered to be a fake.

According to him, the victim has been taken to the hospital for medical examination while a case of rape has been established against the suspect for prosecution.

Adejobi also revealed that the anti crime patrol attached to the Onipanu Division in Otta had on Wednesday engaged some robbery suspects in a gun battle which led to the death of one of the robbers while others escaped with bullet wounds in Ilasa road, Iyesei area in Otta.

Adejobi said: "the victim of the robbery said the robbers trailed him from a bank where he withdrew a sum of 100,000(one hundred thousand naira only) and robbed him at gun point in his residence in Iyesei Otta."

"The police detectives who responded swiftly to a distress call from his neighbours, gave the robbers a hot chase before the gun battle ensued between the police and the robbers.

"One browning pistol with its ammunition and a sum of 65,000(sixty five thousand naira) were recovered from the dead robber.

"The command wishes to assure the general public in Ogun State of adequate protection of lives and property; and urges the good people of the state to always contact the police whenever the needs arise as the Commissioner of police ogun state CP Ikemefuna Okoye appreciates those neighbours of the victim who put a distress call across to the police."
