

② Gunmen kill ex-NCC chief in Anambra

GUNMEN have killed the ex-Chairman of the Nigeria Communications

From Odogwu Emeka
Odogwu, Nnewi

Commission (NCC), Dr Emma Nnamah, in Nibo, Awka South Local Government Area, Anambra State.

Nnamah was attacked at the entrance to his late aunty's home where he went to attend a meeting for her burial.

They asked him to lie down but he refused. He was shot and rushed to the hospital where he died.

President-General of the community, Okey Goodluck Nwankwo informed reporters of the incident.

Police spokesperson Emeka Chukwuemeka said the police were searching for the killers.

Sources said the killing might not be unconnected with funds for the renovation of the home, following the burial plans.

The gunmen were said to have asked for the money before the shooting.

Family sources said Nnamah went to his mother's village, Umuka Ezeawulu, for discussions on the burial of his aunty, Mrs Ezekwe, whose husband was the first Igbo physician, the late Dr Philip Ezekwe.

Nnamah was the Owelle of Nibo and a former Nigeria Ports Authority (NPA), chairman.

③ Woman's mutilated body discovered in Enugu