

He said: "I have signed the impeachment notice because there are impeachable offences ernment exists even when there is no democracy. It is only the legislature that makes a democ-tional Assembly will carry out the verification of the committee and conclude the remaining nation of those who were spreading the story.

Continued on page 57

Yobe police spokesman feared killed in attack

THERE are conflicting reports as to the exact casualty figure of the Damaturu attack on Monday morning.

A security source said the police PPRO, Nansel Chagwang, was among the officers killed.

Also, Arab Umar, the registrar of the Yobe State Polytechnic, Gaidam and two of his male sons were killed by

• Poly registrar, family among victims

From Duku Joel, Damaturu

the insurgents as they tried to escape to Potiskum in the heat of the attack.

Some credible security sources maintained that the insurgents suffered heavy casualties but could not give a figure.

But a source at the General Sani Abacha Specialist Hospital told our correspondent that over 30 bodies of Boko Haram insurgents, 35 policemen, and six soldiers were brought to the mortuary.

Bodies littered Damaturu, especially on Gujba road, the theatre of the attack.

"Several civilians were also killed....I wish you can make it to the mortuary to see things for yourself," he said.

It was gathered that private residential buildings were not affected in the attack.

People have been directed to remain indoors after the state government imposed a dusk to dawn curfew on the town.

Some of the insurgents were caught by residents early yesterday as they tried to escape the town, eyewitnesses said.

Jonathan is Nigeria's Nebuchadnezza

Continued from page 1