

Jonathan EVIDENCE Campaign 2015

The Jonathan administration's deliberate policy of non-interference with electoral and judicial matters is evident in the number of Governorship Elections that have been won by the opposition both at the polls and in the courts. The cases in Anambra, Imo and Osun states are outstanding examples.

Troops kill 20 insurgents in Bama

Posted by: Yusuf Alli in Featured, News 1 day ago

More than 20 Boko Haram insurgents were killed by troops yesterday in a botched reprisal attack on Bama in Borno State.

A soldier was killed and seven others wounded while repelling the attack.

The Air Force patrol went after some of the fleeing insurgents and struck them to death. This could not be independently confirmed.

But there was fresh tension in the North yesterday following the kidnap of the Emir of Bukkuyum, Alhaji Muhammadu Usman Tafida by five gunmen.

The Director of Defence Information, Maj- Gen. Chris Olukolade, who made the disclosure in a statement, said those injured had been evacuated by air for medical attention.

The statement said: "An attack by a band of terrorists on parts of Bama was this morning (Saturday) quelled by the Nigerian troops who dealt with them decisively.

"Over a score of them died while others fled with wounds. Many more of the attacking terrorists also died as the air force patrol went after the fleeing ones.

"Pursuit is still ongoing while calm has been restored and troops maintain firm control of Bama town.

"A Hilux vehicle as well as other equipment and some weapons were captured from the attackers.

"One soldier died while seven were wounded while repelling the attack. They have been evacuated from the combat area by air and are already receiving medical attention.
