

Trader dies in accident

Posted By: Odunayo Ogunmola on: July 23, 2015 In: News No Comments

A meat seller died yesterday in Ado-Ekiti, the Ekiti State capital, when a truck hit his motorcycle at Mojere Market.

The deceased was said to be on his way to keep an appointment.

Eyewitnesses said the motorcyclist was trying to overtake the truck.

The accident caused a gridlock on Iworoko Road.

The police and officers of the Federal Road Safety Corps (FRSC) ensured free flow of traffic.

Passers-by wept as the body of the victim was being conveyed to the hospital.

Police spokesman Alberto Adeyemi confirmed the incident.

Adeyemi said the driver was being interrogated.

The victim's remains had been deposited at the State University Teaching Hospital (EKSUTH).

