Two policemen feared dead in Ejigbo clash

Posted By: Basirat Braimah on: October 30, 2015 In: News No Comments

Two policemen were reportedly killed and several motorcyclists injured in Wednesday's clash in Ajao Estate at Ejigbo, Lagos, it was learnt yesterday.

There was tension in the estate, following the clash.

The hoodlums burnt an armoured tank and a patrol vehicle belonging to the Lagos State Task Force on the Environment.

The clash started at 7.15pm following the arrest of some motorcyclists around the Canoe axis. It was learnt that the task force officials stormed the area to arrest some motorcyclists and impound their motorcycles.

The motorcyclists reportedly mobilised their colleagues and thugs in the area against the policemen in a shootout.

The Nation gathered that there were sporadic gun shots from Afolabi Bus-stop in the estate across the Canoe Bridge linking Ejigbo.

It prompted other motorists to scamper for safety.

Police spokesman, Joe Offor, a Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) said nobody was killed but some policemen were injured and have been treated.

He also said the motorcyclists were obstructing lawful duties.

Offor Said: "The armoured tank has been removed from the junction and also, 64 motorcycles have been impounded. 11 motorcyclists have been arrested and will be charged to court."
