A man, Chukwuebuka Okeke, who allegedly beat Nwabunike Ezeike, a co-tenant to death over N5,000 electricity bill, was yesterday remanded in prison.

An Ebute Meta Chief Magistrate's Court which gave the ruling, said the accused should be remanded at Ikoyi Prisons pending advice from the Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP).

The accused, 28, who lives at Tokosi Street, Orile-Iganmu, is being tried for murder.

Prosecuting Corporal Iyobosa Onaiwu told the court that the offence was committed on December 1.

Onaiwu said Ezeike's death was caused by the blows he received on his head from Okeke following an argument over payment of electricity bills.
