Two brothers die fighting over father's land in Delta

From Polycarp Orosevwotu, Ughelli

TWO brothers yesterday died at Agadama in Ughelli North Local Government Area of Delta State following a hot argument over a piece of land.

A source, who spoke to our reporter, said the elder brother, the late Opipi Ajomo, had been farming on the land. His younger brother, the late Eravwokpo Ajomo, wanted the land shared between them.

The late Opipi Ajomo, out of anger, was said to have picked up a dagger and stabbed his younger brother to death. Some relations were said to have stabbed him back while he was trying to escape.

Delta State Police spokesperson ASP Celestina Kalu's phone was switched off when The Nation called.
