An Ebute Meta Chief Magistrates’ Court in Lagos yesterday remanded two men, Emmanuel Udoh, 35, and Mohammed Seidu, 21, in prison, for allegedly killing a sexagenarian.

Magistrate H.O. Omisore said the accused should be kept in Ikoyi Prisons, pending advice from the Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP). Omisore adjourned to April 13.

The accused were charged with murder and conspiracy.

It was alleged that the duo pushed one Mukaila Oluseye, 63, who hit his head on the ground and died.

The duo were said to have pushed the sexagenarian to death because of his refusal to pay a N100 fare.

Prosecuting Inspector Julius Babatope said the offence was committed on February 5 on the Ijaiye-Ojokoro Junction.
